

The image shows two overlapping 10-cent U.S. postage stamps. The stamps are from the 'Grain' series, as indicated by the text 'CONFED. GRAIN' and 'DINA + COR' visible on the left and right sides of the stamps. The central emblem on each stamp is a shield with a crown on top. The stamps are heavily marked with a large, dark, hand-drawn oval and the word 'BOGOTÁ' in bold, black, block letters across the center. The stamps are yellowed with age and show signs of wear and tear.
